Call for Abstracts
As the world’s largest gathering of users and producers of health services research, the AcademyHealth Annual Research Meeting (ARM) is the preeminent place to share important findings with experts from around the world who can move research into action.

This year’s ARM is organized around 21 themes and five submission categories. All individual abstracts and research panel submissions undergo blind peer review. Policy Roundtables and Panels on Critical and Emerging Issues in Health Services Research (HSR) submissions are not blinded.

Publication and Credit Opportunities

• The Journal of the American Medical Association (JAMA) and Health Services Research (HSR) are partnering with AcademyHealth to select abstracts for full manuscript submission consideration in conjunction with the 2019 ARM.
• Only Call for Abstracts submissions chosen for podium presentation will be considered.
• Authors must be able to submit a complete, unpublished manuscript to JAMA and HSR by early March.
• AcademyHealth will offer continuing education credits at the 2019 ARM. All presenters are required to complete an online disclosure form with their submission for themselves and on behalf of all listed co-authors.
